

MAKES COUNCIL "TAKE IT BACK"

COUNCILMAN JONES PUTS IN APPEARANCE AT MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT AND GETS APOLOGY FOR RESOLUTIONS PASSED IN MEETING LAST MONTH.

WAS IN A FIGHTING MOOD

"Was the action of this council in passing the resolution declaring that I did not attend council meeting my seat would be declared vacant, a slur against Christianity or me? That is what I demand to know," were the words of Councilman Jones, who Tuesday night for first time in many months attended council meeting. Councilman Jones was decidedly angry and was not the least bit bashful about it. He demanded a retraction of the insinuation he claims the council made and he got it.

At the meeting of the council last month the council passed the resolution against Councilman Jones. Mr. Jones, who had been conducting religious meetings at the Fox Ridge M. E. Church for several weeks, had not been attending the meetings of council. The other councilmen believed he should attend and went to work to either force him to attend or to oust him from the body. The resolution was passed with only one dissenting vote, Councilman Dodd being against it. The resolution went into the minutes of the meeting and is part of the records.

Things started on Tuesday night when the minutes of the meeting, which were not read at the last meeting, were up for passage. Councilman Jones demanded that the resolution be stricken out of the minutes. The council refused to grant such action and the minutes were up for vote on passage. Councilman Dodd and Mr. Jones voted against them.

Councilman Jones then demanded to know if the council had the power to unseat him. City attorney said that any city councilman failing to fulfill the duties of his office, on trial and conviction by the city council may be ejected from the body. Specific charges must be made and proven, however, to authorize the action.

When Mr. Jones demanded to know if the resolution was a slur against Christianity, Mayor Miller and the councilmen hurriedly assured him to the contrary. He then scathingly accused Attorney Peck and two members of the council wanting to blemish his official character. He accused them of knowing he was holding religious meetings and that the meetings were the cause of his non-appearance at the meetings.

"In the very face of the fact that they I knew I was doing the work of the Lord and that I felt I was doing it at His calling," said Mr. Jones, "they took occasion to cast this stigma. I demand justice."

And my Jones got the requested retraction. Councilman Naylor offered the following motion which was passed unanimously: "I would move that the reasons offered by Councilman Jones for absence from meetings of the council, that he was engaged in conducting religious service, be accepted as sufficient excuse."

Councilman Jones thanked Mr. Naylor and the incident closed.

Business will be conducted in the old room during the time it is moved and after it is moved, until the new store room is completed. Charley Bell, manager of the store, stated that work on the new building would be begun within the next week or ten days.

PETITION ASKING THAT SEMINARY STREET BE PAVED WITH ASPHALT OR BRICK IS ACCEPTED AND MATTER REFERRED TO COMMITTEE BY CITY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE DELAYED

The petition asking for the improvement of Seminary street from the east line of Jackson street to the west line of Wood street, signed by from one-half to two-thirds of the property owners on the street, was presented to the city council Tuesday night. The petition was accepted and placed on file the matter being referred to the committee on public works with orders to investigate and report. Councilman Naylor, who lives on Seminary street, although not a signer is in favor of the proposed improvement and will no doubt favor the petition until it is acted favorably on by the council. It is believed the council will grant the petition with little or no opposition. The petition was brief, asking that the street be paved either with asphalt or brick or some material of equal quality and which would give equal satisfaction.

The following property owners, twenty-six in all, had signed the petition:

Judge James P. Hughes,
Frank Donner,
Ferd Lucas,

Otis Gardner filed a petition asking that he be allowed to put in a drain pipe to drain his cellar, the drain to run into a sewer in the alley behind his home. The petition was granted.

City Engineer Lane was present with the plans and specifications for the proposed improvement of Johnson street and the improvement of the alley running from Vine to Jackson streets between Washington and Walnut. On account of a change in the law as enacted by the last legislature the legality of the proceedings was questioned by Mayor Miller and City Attorney Peck. The matters were deferred until the new laws are published.

The following claim ordinance was then passed and the meeting adjourned:

A NEW FEDERAL LAW OR PLAN TO PROTECT MIGRATORY BIRDS.

Now that the Weeks-McLean bill, giving Federal protection to migratory birds, which was characterized on the floor of the House as "the most radical legislation ever proposed in this country," has become a law, the American Game Protective and Propagation Association, which engineered the passage of the measure, is being swamped with inquiries as to how and when it will be put into effect. In answer to these the following statement has just been issued:

"An amendment to the Weeks-McLean bill, which was made just before final passage makes mandatory the adoption of suitable regulations prescribing closed seasons, having due regard for zones of temperature, breeding habits and times and lines of migratory flight. The bill provides that when these regulations are prepared they shall be made public and that a period of three months shall be allowed before final adoption, in order that they may be examined and considered and that public hearings may be granted if this is deemed advisable.

"At the present time it is impossible to say how much time will be required to draw up these regulations. The matter will be entrusted to the biological survey, which is a bureau and while much of the requisite data has already been collected in connection with the survey's other activities, it will at least be necessary to compile available information on migrations and breeding habits in different sections of the country and coordinate it with the proposed regulations in view.

Operative by 1914.

"It may be found advisable to make more exhaustive investigations of these problems to supplement those which have been carried out for other purposes. In any case it will be impossible for the new law to take effect in time to protect the birds during the breeding season which is at hand, and unless unforeseen difficulties arise it will unquestionably be in operation before the migrations of 1914.

"The regulations imposed will prohibit absolutely the killing of these song and insectivorous birds whose value to agriculture greatly outweighs their food value. Notable members of this class are robins, blackbirds and bobolinks. In a general way it is safe to say that migratory game birds, such as ducks, geese, swans and shore birds will be protected from the time they mate in the spring until their young are full grown. As these birds mate earlier in some parts of the United States than in others, hard and fast rules governing open and closed seasons can not be made for the whole country, but zones will have to be created and shooting seasons determined in accordance with conditions in each zone. Additional protection in certain zones, or for the whole country, will probably be given to some species which are now threatened with extinction, until they have increased beyond the danger point. Likely candidates for this special consideration are the woodcock, in many localities, the woodcock, trumpeter swan, the whooping and sandhill cranes, and many varieties of short birds.

"An important provision in the bill which should not be lost sight of says:

"That nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect or interfere with the local laws of the states and territories for the protection of non-migratory game or other birds resident and breeding within their borders, nor to prevent the states and territories from enacting laws and regulations to promote and render efficient the regulations of the Department of Agriculture provided under this statute.

"As most states already have laws which will fulfill the requirements of the Federal law, no new restrictions will be placed on their citizens, unless in the matter of better enforcement, and, as the laws were made to

REPUBLICANS ALL THE WAY THROUGH

BOTH POSTAL INSPECTORS AND ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL, WHO ARE INSISTING UPON THE REMOVAL OF POSTMASTER LOCKRIDGE, ARE MEMBERS OF G. O. P.

SHAME TO THE PARTY

In answer to the charge of the Republican press that the Democratic party is responsible for the act of the Postal Department in requesting of Congressman Moss that a successor for Postmaster Lockridge be recommended at once, The Herald will give $10 to Mr. Silas A. Hays, to be used as he sees fit, for any information which will substantiate the charges of the Republicans.

We might suggest that in case the Republicans can secure any evidence with which to secure the said $10, they could do the citizens a great favor by applying the $10 to the street repair fund.

As The Herald has stated the fight on Mr. Lockridge, which is most deplorable, was started about two years ago, under a Republican administration and by postal inspectors appointed under a Republican administration.

At the time the charges were made Mr. Lockridge, himself, and many of his close political friends, declared that the fight against him was instigated by Republican political enemies. The Republican press at that time did not take occasion to charge it to the Democratic party.

The same inspectors who made the charges then and who made reports to the Postal Department, declaring Mr. Lockridge to be incompetent to conduct the affairs of the office, are still in service. The assistant secretary of the department who has notified Congressman Moss that a recommendation for a successor to Mr. Lockridge is desired, is the same Republican who had charge of the original reports.

The Republican press might get some information regarding the original charges—which charges still stand—from the postmaster. A statement from him along this line might be of interest to the people and might have some effect in clarifying the situation.

The Democrats are unanimous in their denunciation of the treatment of Mr. Lockridge. Republicans who are so bitter as to cause him so much uncalculated for troubles are despicable to say the least. The Democratic party in Putnam county and Greencastle and Congressman Moss are in no way responsible for any action against him. This statement is unqualified. The Republicans are simply reaping the result of their own indiscretions.

We desire to be just as liberal as Mr. Hays who offered to give $10 to the flood victims, in case we could give any proof that Republicans were behind the fight against Mr. Lockridge. So we will give $10. (which we would suggest be used on the streets) for any proof he may secure which will show that any Democrat is responsible for any fight against the present postmaster.

The attempts of the Republican press in its attempts to saddle the deplorable situation upon the shoulders of Democracy is so silly that it is really humorous.

RIOT IN SOUTH-END TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

Merchants in the south part of town Tuesday afternoon called the police to quell a disturbance caused by several men said to be intoxicated Marshal Johns answered the call and arrested one man, Willis Hinkle. This morning Hinkle was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Miller. Other arrests in connection with the trouble are to be made. Hinkle was one of the witnesses before the grand jury at its recent session. He was questioned in regard to the liquor affairs said to have occurred in south Greencastle.

None Seriously Hurt When Big Four Crashes Into Monon Train.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 8.—Hundreds of passengers were shaken up, but none seriously injured when Big Four east-bound passenger train No. 16 ran into the Monon Louisville flyer at Battle Ground. The Monon train had stopped at the Battle Ground station and was just starting out again. The Big Four train was running close behind and a miscalculation of speed resulted in the Big Four train crashing into the rear end of the Monon train. The Big Four is running its south-bound trains from Chicago to Lafayette on the Monon tracks on account of the New York Central bridge spanning the Wabash river here being condemned.

RECEDING WATERS LEAVE FISH STRANDED ON FARM

Joe Acree who resides south of the city in Jackson township, has just returned from a visit to his farm along Eel river south of Reelsville and reports that the river is not receding very fast that it is going down very slowly.

Mr. Acree found many fish on his farm left stranded on the floor as it is recedes and he believes that he will have at least a wagon load of fish when the water has left his farm. Mr. Acree reports that a straw stack which was located on the John Hoffman farm a mile away before the flood, was carried down by the high water and is now calmly reposing on his farm.—Brazil News.

3 TICKETS IN CITY ELECTION

COUNTY CHAIRMAN JONES OF PROGRESSIVE PARTY DENIES RUMOR THAT BULL MOOSERS WILL AFFILIATE WITH REPUBLICANS NEXT NOVEMBER.

PLANNING ANOTHER PARTY

There will be three tickets in the field at the city election next November. The Bull Moose leaders declare that their party will not affiliate with the straight line Republicans, and the Republicans say they will not go over into the ranks of the Moosers.

O. L. Jones, county chairman of the Progressive party, stated this afternoon that there is positively no possibility of his party joining with the Republican party in the city election.

"A Citizens' ticket may be started," said Mr. Jones. "I and several of the leaders of the Progressives have become interested in the starting of a Citizens' ticket, or a ticket independent of either the Republican or Bull Moose organizations."

According to Mr. Jones, however, the plans for a Citizens ticket are very immature and may not be completed. Mr. Jones was only sure of one thing: The Moosers will never go back into the ranks of the Republican party.

A Clothing Detail You May Have Overlooked

THE one big advantage in buying ready to wear clothing is the advantage of a choice in try-ons. When you go to a tailor, you hold up a piece of goods and draw upon your imagination. Sometimes the garment turns out just as you had pictured it—but often it doesn't.

When you come here to buy a suit, you are at perfect liberty to try on just as many coats as you wish. You have the opportunity of seeing how you look in a check—how a stripe becomes you—how this cut coat hangs on you—how the blues and grays and all the of the other colors match up with your general complexion and disposition—then you can buy whichever one you believe "fills the bill." That's an advantage that you lose when you have a suit made to order—and it's worth consideration.

For Instance, Come In and Try on Some of These Suits at $25

WE WILL not ask you to buy unless you feel so inclined. Merely consider this as an invitation to "try-on." You will find a number of very stunning new fabrics that just came in last week. Candidly, we have never seen a better line of clothing at the price, than these

COACHES ARE WELL SATISFIED

Baseball Prospects Look Good—Butler
Taken on Friday.

Coaches Cunningham and Duggan are well satisfied with the outcome of the game with Franklin Saturday. Although a few mistakes were made, the team as a whole played an exceptional game considering the small amount of outdoor practice they have had and the fact that the team has had no chance to work together even in scrub games.

The batting was extra good for the first game and a total of twelve hits were annexed by the Old Gold. With a little more practice against good pitching the batting strength should be sufficient to drive any of the rival college pitchers to the woods.

No practice was held Monday owing to the weather but the mistakes of Saturday's game were discussed. The next game is to be played here Friday with Butler and the squad will be worked to the limit in order to have them in better condition for the game Friday. Ed Ploenges will probably do the pitching for Butler.

JUNIOR PROM COMMITTEES

DePAUW CHOIR AT SHELBYVILLE

Second Trip for University Choir—
Third Will Be to Lebanon.

The University Choir on its second trip of the season, gave a sacred concert Sunday evening at the First M. E. Church in Shelbyville, where they were greeted by an audience of about one thousand. The church was filled to its greatest capacity and three hundred people, it is said, were turned away.

The feature of the program was the vocal solo, "Sleep Ye the Lord," rendered by Dean McCutchan. Vocal solos were also given by Miss Bari and Mr. Scofield a violin solo by Prof. Barnum, and several organ selections by Prof. Butterfield.

The choir was entertained at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Goodrich, whose daughter, Miss Opal Goodrich, is a student at DePauw, and one of the sopranos in the choir.

Another concert will probably be given about the first of May at Lebanon, when practically the same program will be given.

Misses Nina Beeler and Nelle Williams spent the week-end in Indianapolis.

SENIOR PLAY FARCICAL COMEDY

"What Happened to Jones," a Play of American Life—Tryouts for Places.

"What Happened to Jones," a farcical comedy in three acts, is the final selection of the committee for a senior class play, and has been approved by Harry Porter, the director. A senior class meeting will be held Thursday afternoon to conclude all matters concerning the play.

This year's play has thirteen parts, five of which are for women. The parts will be given after try-outs which will be started soon, and will be assigned by the last week of this month and according to the present plans all parts must be learned by the second week in May. Mr. Porter, the director, will make two trips each week to Greencastle for a time, then three, and later he will be here every day.

In contrast to the play last year which was military and English "What Happened to Jones" is a story from American life. "Jones" encounters a repeated series of exciting situations. There is constant and rapid action throughout. Rather elaborate scenery will be required but no change of scenery will be necessary. The costumes will be the ordinary American dress with the exception of a member of the clergy.

PROMINENT MEN WILL BE PRESENT AT INAUGURATION

Among the prominent men who have accepted the invitation to be present at the inauguration ceremonies are Edmund J. James, president of the University of Illinois; Dr. Thomas Fell, Provost of the University of Maryland, and Col. Leigh R. Gignilliat, Commandant of Culver Military Academy.

Theme:

HERE AND HEREAFTER.

BY THE REV. DR. J. M. HUBBERT.

Text: Philippians 1:22-24: "What I shall choose I wot not. For I am in a strait betwixt two having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ, which is far better; nevertheless, to abide in the flesh is more needful for you."

The words of the text remind us of good Isaac Watts, who said: "Thank God, I can lie down at night with no concern whether I wake in this world or the next." Some people are worldly, chiefly concerned for things here below. Some are other-worldly, having thoughts and affections set on things above; and such a man was Paul. This thinking about the future is by some called "impracticable star-gazing." But Dr. Samuel Johnson correctly remarked, that "those who think most about the next life are the people who best perform the duties of this life."

First of all, the text speaks of our morality. In saying he has a desire to "depart," Paul is not thinking of going from one place to another on the earth, but of going back to mother earth—"earth to earth, dust to dust, ashes to ashes." This is the way we must all go very soon. King Philip of Macedonia had a servant whose duty it was to wake the King each morning by saying, "Philip, remember thou art mortal." Surely, we need no such reminder. We have enough all around us to impress us that "all flesh is as grass." Passing through a street of a very healthful mountain town, and seeing a man with a horse washing mud from the wheels of a hearse, I said, "Do you use such things up here?" "Oh, yes," said he, "we carried out three yesterday." And that is just what is going on everywhere. The cemeteries are fast receiving the teeming populations of cities, towns, villages and country places. Well may be said:

"Death floats upon every passing breeze,
And lurks in every flower;
Each season has its own disease,
Its peril every hour."

Again, the text speaks of our immortality. Paul has a desire to depart, "and to be." He has no thought of ceasing to be, when death comes. Death does not end all. When the earthly tent is taken down, its occupant will still exist as a conscious, thinking, alert being. The body is corruptible, it perishes, it dissolves; but there is that within the body which is incorruptible, imperishable and indissoluble; that which no floods can drown, no waters can quench, no fires consume; which is destined to outlive mountains, firmaments, suns and stars. A prominent city social club has for its motto:

"While we live, we live in clover;
When we die, we die all over."

Oh, no, we shall none of us die "all over." We die in part only. And even though the body only is to die, even it is to be raised again, and by and by soul and body shall be re-joined, and then man in his complete personality shall live on and forever.

Further, the text speaks of our chief felicity hereafter. Paul's desire is to depart, and to be "with Christ." The Bible gives different conceptions of Heaven, such as a place of rest from toil, release from persecutions, freedom from sin and reunion with friends. But Paul's favorite idea of it is as a place of companionship with Jesus. True, Christ is with His disciples here and now, by His Spirit, but in the hereafter they are to see Him in His glorified humanity, just as He was seen after His resurrection and when He went up from the slopes of Mount Olivet. We say "no home without a mother," and what a mother is to a home, and infinitely more, is Christ to His redeemed ones in Heaven.

"When death these mortal eyes shall seal,
And still this throbbing heart,
The rending veil shall then reveal,
All glorious, as Thou art."

Next, the text speaks of the immediateness of this heavenly felicity, after death. Paul's expectation is to depart, and then at once to be with Christ. The language will admit of no other interpretation. He gives no intimation of a midway station, a half-way house, between the deathbed and Heaven. Some people carry very vague notions of what is called the "intermediate state." As there is an intermediate time, between the body's death and its resurrection, so there is an intermediate degree of blessedness for Christ's saints, who are not to receive their full and final recompense of reward until after the general judgment; but there is no gloomy abode for the righteous, after this death, where they wait to see Christ.

"To-day thou shalt be with Me in paradise," were Jesus' words to the dying thief, and such is the glorious privilege awaiting every saint that passes down into the valley of the shadow of death.

A WORD WITH WOMEN.

Valuable Advice for Herald-Democrat and Daily Herald Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary troubles disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

You can tell it is kidney trouble if the secretions are dark colored, contain sediment; the passages are too frequent or scanty. Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Greencastle's woman convincing statement:

Mrs. Belle Hinkle 609 Illinois St., Greencastle, Ind., says: "Several years ago I suffered from sharp twinges through my loins. I felt tired all the time and had spells of dizziness. Reading of Doan's Kidney Pills I began using them and they brought me instant relief. My back is now strong and I feel better in every way."

DO YOU TAKE THE HERALD?

Minutes Mean Dollars
IN TREATING ANIMALS

Doubtless you know the danger of delayed treatment of colic and other diseases. You also realize that wrongly applied remedies are often worse than no treatment at all. In other words, not to diagnose a disease accurately may prove fatal. Every owner should be able to recognize an ailment and give correct treatment at the first symptoms. This is the great secret of treating horses.

Minutes mean dollars. Of course proper treatment is always necessary. That is just how Humphreys' 50¢ pain reliever, known as "Humphreys' 50¢ Pain Reliever," will prove so valuable to you. It is by no means a new discovery, but it is a remedy that has been used for years and has given proper treatment. This book will save you hundreds of dollars and keep your horse healthy. It will cost you absolutely free on request to send for it. In order to introduce Humphreys' Veterinary Remedy, the book, "Humphreys' Veterinary Remedy," is being given away free. You do not have to order remedies to secure the book. Address, Humphreys' Home Medicine Co., 156 William Street, New York City. This is a splendid opportunity to obtain a veterinary treatise that you should have in your library. As a reference work you will find it invaluable. To have it in the time of need will be worth many dollars, whereas it will cost you but a postcard by writing for it now.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO TAX-PAYERS

TAXES ARE HIGHER THIS YEAR!

Many will question the amount of their taxes and ask concerning their personal property assessments and land appraisement. Mistakes will occur where the assessment of property and the extending and collecting of taxes are done by as many different officers.

The Treasurer and Auditor will cheerfully correct all mistakes for which they are responsible and the county assessor will explain the assessment of personal property and where possible adjust it in error.

Taxes are due Jan. 1 and payable at this office in full, or at the option of the taxpayer, one-half including road taxes, on or before the first Monday in May, 1913, (being fifth day) and the remaining one-half on or before the first Monday in November, 1913. Road tax receipts must be presented on or before the first Monday in May or they will not be credited, as the law requires that the Road tax be included in the first installment only.

If the first installment of taxes is not paid within the limit set by law, the taxes for the entire year become due and delinquent and with penalty is extended by the Auditor and charged to the Treasurer. The state is interested in this extension and the Auditor and Treasurer are both personally liable for any penalties that might be refunded.

Under no circumstances can the Treasurer alter the duplicate. He can make no reduction in taxes and he can not refund money once paid in. Errors must be corrected through the Auditor's office.

As the Treasurer can not know the location of each person's property tax payers should designate the property on which they wish to pay, and see that all property is included in their receipt. If they have land in more than one township or corporation, or desire to pay taxes on lands or lots not in their name, call the Treasurer's attention to the matter, carefully examine receipts, see if they describe all property (personal and real) and are otherwise correct before leaving the office, and if any errors are evident have them corrected at once.

The Tax Duplicate is not a transfer book and when, for any year, the Tax Duplicate is made with reference to the property on the first day of March or said year, the duplicate remains forever unchanged as to showing of property and in whose names changes on the transfer books or prompt recording of deeds to the contrary notwithstanding.

Property will appear in same name for the payment of the second installment. Assessors, Guardians, Administrators and others who pay taxes on property in trust, and persons whose taxes are complicated, such as undivided estates, etc., are earnestly requested to settle such taxes before the last few days, as it requires considerable time to make divisions and separate receipts. Thus avoid mistakes which might happen during the rush of the last few days of taxpaying.

"All property, both Real and Personal, shall be liable for the payment of all taxes, penalties, interest and cost charged to the owner thereof in such county, and no partial payment of any such taxes, penalties, interest or costs shall discharge or release any part or portion of such property until the whole is paid, which lien shall in no wise be affected or destroyed by any sale or transfer of any such persons property, and shall attach on the first day of April, annually for the taxes of such year."—From Section 173, Acts 1891.

All Ditch Taxes and Street Improvements must be called for separately.

The taxpayer often has personal property and paid assessed to him separately from his real estate especially when the land is in joint title and accordingly must have a receipt therefor.

Delinquent taxes must be paid before the current tax.

The Treasurer will not be responsible for penalties and charges on delinquent taxes, resulting from omission of the person paying such tax to state definitely on what property, in whose name and in what township or corporation it was assessed.

Very Respectfully,
ARTHUR L. REAT,
Treasurer Putnam County.
71 W. Mich 21; 211 H. Mn, Wd, Fri.

Was It a Dream?

It was after 5 o'clock in the evening. The clerks and stenographers had gone home.

I sat in my large arm chair in my office and gazed comfortably out into the streets. A cold sharp wind was blowing and driving sleet before it. My office was warm and pleasant and I was happy in the satisfaction that my business was prospering.

It is pleasant, gratifying, to know that you are growing wealthy and to be looked upon as a business success.

With these pleasant thoughts in my mind I half closed my eyes. On opening them I was startled to see a pale, gaunt, ragged woman standing before me. I was more startled because I had not seen or heard the door open.

She looked at me blankly, showing neither anger, timidity, boldness, fear; neither supplicating nor commanding.

I trembled, vainly tried to calm myself, and said in a chattering whisper, "Do you need money?"

"What," she replied in a voice that froze my blood, "do the dead need money?"

"Dead," I repeated, "Dead! How did you come to die?"

"Yes," she replied, looking at me with her cold, awful eyes that she never took from my face, "I was murdered in your factory. I died of overwork and foul air to make you rich; so that the world would smile on you."

"Why didn't your husband support you?" I asked, grasping at that straw to evade her cold-blooded accusation.

"Because he was killed by you. He was caught in a band and whirled around the wheel until he was mangled to death. It would have cost four dollars to have put guard rails around it. You called it an act of Providence. Do you think GOD kills people to save four dollars?"

"But," I interposed, remembering the case, "you were given five hundred dollars."

"Will five hundred dollars take the place of a husband's love; will five hundred dollars care for and protect a woman's children like their father?"

I wished that she could take her terrible eyes off of me.

"How much did your factory make last year?"

"Forty thousand dollars," I replied, and for once did not feel like boasting of it.

"How many lives of men and women does that represent worn out; how many days robbed from childhood; how much misery and suffering does that forty thousand dollars stand as a monument for?"

I could not reply, but forced by her eyes, which pierced me like a sword, I asked this question, which I already knew the answer to: "Do you have any children working in my factory?"

"When you walked through the factory to-day and saw my boy you said to yourself that you would tell the foreman to discharge him because he is getting too feeble from overwork and lack of a mother's care to do the work any longer."

"And my daughter," she continued mercilessly, "you took her out of the factory and gave her work in the office last week. You said that she was too intelligent to work in the factory."

A cold sweat came over me. I sat paralyzed in my chair and could make no reply.

"But you said to yourself that she was too beautiful."

I screamed and sprang to my feet. It was dark in the room. I had been dreaming. I rushed down into the lighted street.

It was so terrible to be alone in a dark room with one's conscience.—Robert Randall in Miner's Magazine.

Congo Free State.

The Congo Free State in mid-Africa has 900,000 square miles of territory. At present its imports amount to only about $4,000,000 a year, consisting mainly of cotton-pieces, goods, liquors and beer, canned meats, vegetables and other food products, steamers and boats, machinery, clothing, arms and ammunition, hardware and metals. The chief products of the country are rubber, ivory, gum copal, palm kernels and palm oil.

The Date of Buddha.

On the authority of the available inscriptions and of the tradition as recorded in the Nirvana of Buddha is found by the latest writer on the subject to be 487 B. C.; and as tradition assigns 80 years as the period of his life, he must be considered to have been born in the year 567 B. C.

Maybe All for the Best.

Distressed at his son's refusal to enter the ministry and his preference for dealing in horses, a farmer was telling his sorrow to a neighbor. "Oh," said the latter, "don't take it too much to heart. I believe Tom will lead more men to repentance as a horse dealer than ever he would as a minister."

The Last Thing on the List.

When a man thinks his son isn't likely to be good for anything else, he generally tries to get him to study medicine.

HOW WELL SHE KEPT A SECRET.

Did Not Tell the Diamond in Her Ring Was Paste.

Miss Mary S. Anthony, the sister of the famous Susan B. Anthony, was talking about the old, old accusation against woman that she cannot keep a secret, says the Kansas City Journal.

"A woman," said Miss Anthony, "can keep an important secret as well as a man. The secrets she reveals are slight and harmless ones, such as any man would reveal. Where is the woman who ever tells a secret that reflects on her husband or her own children?"

"I know a man who one day refused to tell his wife the outcome of a business transaction in which, naturally, she took a deep interest."

"No," he sneered, "I won't tell you. If I did, you'd repeat it. You women can never keep a secret."

"John," said the woman quietly, "have I ever told the secret about the solitaire engagement ring you gave me eighteen years ago being paste?"

Was Quite Mixed.

Mrs. Allcash, who has not as yet got over the novelty of riches, is not inclined to admit the fact. On the contrary, it is her great desire that the society with which she is now entitled to mix by virtue of her husband's wealth shall think she was born in the purple. Recently she was at a big dinner-party, and as she was being piloted from drawing-room to dining-room she noticed a marble bust on one of the pillars in the hall.

"Do you know who that is?" she inquired of her cavalier.

"That is Marcus Aurelius," was the answer.

"Oh, is it now?" ejaculated the lady. "But can you tell me," she added, "whether it is the present marquis or the late marquis? I get so much mixed up with dukes and things."

The Demand of Labor.

It was formerly the custom of a paper mill in Massachusetts to pay the workers semi-monthly, and the operatives, having found the practice somewhat inconvenient from their standpoint, it was decided to send a delegate to the head of the firm to state their grievance. An Irishman, rather well known for his sagacity and persuasive powers, was selected for the task. He duly waited on the "boss," who said: "Well, Michael, what can I do for you?"

"If ye please, sir," said Mike, "I've been sint as a dilfagate by the workers to ask a favor of ye ragardin' the payment of our wages."

"What do they want?"

"Sor, it is the desire of meself an' of every other man in the establishment that we resavay our semi-monthly pay every week."—Lippincott's.

On the Other Leg.

A manufacturer not one hundred miles from our city tells a good joke upon himself. He is credited with being extremely disagreeable to his employees, says the Philadelphia Telegraph. A man just arrived in this country called on him one day to ask for work. "Have you a recommendation of character?" he asked the stranger. "No," he replied, "but I have friends in the village who will give me one." Putting his bundle on the floor, he left. In the course of half an hour he returned, took up his bundle and was leaving the office without a word. "Did you get your recommendation?" asked the manufacturer. The man without halting a moment or raising his eyes, said: "No, mister, but I got thine."

Rather Ambiguous.

Manager—I would like to visit your town some time.

Soubrette—If you ever come with-fout in a mile of our place I hope you'll stop there.—Lehigh Burr.

He Knew.

A young gentleman with an unusual voice insisted upon singing at a social gathering.

"What does he call that?" inquired a disgusted guest.

"The Tempest," I think," answered another.

"Don't be alarmed," said an old sea captain present. "That's no tempest; it's only a squall, and will soon be over."—London Tit-Bits.

Turned the Tables.

"So your wife refused to marry you when you first proposed to her. Did you keep on pursuing her till she consented?"

"Not much! I went out and made a fortune. When I came back it was she who did the pursuing."—Detroit Free Press.

Equipped for Running.

"Isn't it awful," remarked Growells, looking over his gas bill for the last quarter; "Isn't it surprising how gas bills run up?"

"Not so surprising," replied Kidder, "considering how many thousand feet they have."—Philadelphia Press.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

A FLOATING PIN.

Let a drop of water fall upon glass and it will spread, but a drop of mercury will not. This is because the water and the glass have an affinity for each other, so that the water wets the glass, but there is no affinity between mercury and glass. The same principle underlies a pretty experiment that may be made with water and a pin.

Water will wet a pin but not so readily at it wets glass. Remembering this we may make a pin, even a big one, float upon the surface of the water. There are several ways of doing this, one of them being that shown in the accompanying illustration. Lay the pin upon the prongs of a fork, and then, holding the fork at an angle of forty-five degrees, place it very gently upon the water, watching your opportunity to remove the support.

This may require a little practice, but you will soon be able to succeed, when you will see the water assume a convex form on each side of the pin, and soon a the pin has replaced enough of the water to counterbalance its weight, it will float like a little boat.

This experiment may be made with a needle as well as a pin, it being necessary only to place it upon the water so carefully that the water cannot wet it. That may sound like an inconsistency, but it is possible, nevertheless, to lay the pin or the needle upon the water that it shall not be made wet.

If you find the experiment with the fork only partially successful, try this simpler method: Lay a sheet of cigarette paper evenly upon the water, and upon the paper place a needle or a pin. As soon as the paper gets wet through, it will sink below the surface, leaving the needle or pin floating. By using great care you might after a while, succeed in floating a dime or a gold dollar in the same way.

His Word Not Good.

John and Jim agreed to settle a difference by fighting it out. It was understood that whoever wanted to quit should cry "nough!" John got Ji. down and was hammering him soundly when Jim cried "nough!" But John paid no attention to his cry and kept on pounding him. Again and again Jim called out "nough!" But John paid no heed and kept busy with his fists. A boy standing near asked:

"Why don't you let the feller up? He's yelled 'nough!'"

"But he's such a liar you can't believe him."

Questions About a Tree.

Did you ever see a tree walk on its limbs? Are there interesting stories to be found between the tree's leaves? Does a tree's heart ever break? Did you ever hear the bark of a tree? Can a tree bow (bough) gracefully? Can a tree spin its top? Do fishes ever swim in the tree's branches? Should a tree get offended if it should call it nutty? Are trees sad when they sigh in the breeze? What is a tree after when it roots into the ground.

Difficult.

A teacher in a certain eastern school asked her class to draw a picture of that which they wished to be when they grew up. The pupils went diligently to work with pencil and paper, some drawing pictures of soldiers, policemen, and fine ladies, etc. They all worked hard, but one little girl, who sat quietly holding her pad and pencil in hand.

The teacher observing her, asked: "Don't you know what you want to be when you grow up, Anna?"

"Yes, I know," replied the little girl. "I know I want to be married, but I don't know how to draw it."—Harper's Weekly.

Conundrums.

When is a man's watch chain like a reigning belle?

When it has many charms.

When are grass and the stars alike?

When shooting.

When is a walking stick like an old lady's hair?

When knotted.

When are muskets like corn stalks?

A Riddle.

Legs and arm and back, Yet it cannot walk or speak, The only sound that it can make Is an ugly little squeak.

(A chair.)

WHEN SHE SAW A GHOST.

Kept in Terror Until the Arrival of the Clergyman.

Captain L. R. W. Beavis, of the steamship Eagle Point, told a story of a haunted ship. It was a frightening, a dreadful story; and at its end the honest mariner hastened to add that it was of doubtful truth.

"You know how it is with ghost stories," said he. "They seem true on their face, but when you come to investigate them it's another matter. A cousin of mine entertained a week end party last fall in an old Elizabethan house in the country."

"One of my cousin's guests, a young lady, awoke in the middle of the night with a strange foreboding in her heart. As she lay in inexplicable terror in the great, old-fashioned bed, the door of her room opened noiselessly, and a figure, white from head to foot, appeared. She could not breathe. And the thumping of her heart sounded in her ears like a great hammer."

"The white, still figure glided noiselessly towards her. It reached the bed. The bedclothes were suddenly whisked off her, and the awful visitant vanished as silently and mysteriously as it had come."

"At breakfast the next morning the young lady was pale and thoughtful. She wanted to tell her strange experience, but she feared that no one would believe her. As she hesitated, an aged and rosy clergyman bustled into the breakfast room and said, with a merry laugh, to his host:

"Wasn't it cold last night? I awoke nearly frozen, and, knowing that the room next mine was unoccupied, I took the liberty of going in there and stealing the bedclothes."

The Mother Tongue.

Language is called the "mother tongue."

And this is why, I trow—Poor father doesn't get a chance To use it much, you know.

—Boston Transcript.

A Slave's Sophistry.

One of the most successful and popular employees of the Baldwin locomotive works of Philadelphia, has succeeded in curing himself of rheumatism by permitting a lot of bees to sting him.

In a discussion of the bee-sting cure, he said: "The bees stung me on the inside of the forearm. They hurt me, of course, but the hurt, so to speak, did no harm." He laughed. "It was like the case of the chicken-stealing slave down in Kentucky before the war who, though very religious, used to lift a chicken whenever he got a chance."

"Well, one day the slave was caught red-handed in the hen-house, and haled before his master."

"What have you got to say for yourself, Calhoun?" the master demanded. "You, with your religious professions, stealing chickens!"

"Well, boss," the slave answered, "Ah's youahs, an' de chicken is youahs—an' hain't dey still youahs, wever dey's inside me or outside me?"

"Calhoun thought a moment. Then he concluded:

"Or boss, look at hit disaway. You've got less chicken, but you've got more niggah."

Beyond Him.

In the staging of one of his earlier plays, Joseph Jefferson, accompanied by a friend, attended a rehearsal, at which a lively disagreement arose between two of the actresses as to the possession of the center of the stage during a certain scene. While the manager poured oil upon the troubled waters Jefferson sat carelessly swinging his feet from the rail of an adjoining box. The friend could stand it no longer.

"Good Lord, Jefferson," he exclaimed, "this will ruin your play. Why don't you settle matters? You could if you only would!"

Jefferson shook his head gravely, but with a twinkle in his eye. "No, George," he replied; "the Lord only made one man who could ever manage the sun and moon, and you remember even he let the stars alone."—Harper's Weekly.

Had One on Him.

Miss Fola La Follette, the daughter of Governor La Follette, of Wisconsin, has inherited some of her father's quick wit and audacity. She was passing a collection plate one day, when she was waved away by a man distinguished for his wealth and parsimony.

"Nothing," he said gruffly, "I have nothing."

"Take something, then," the young woman replied; "this collection is for the poor, you know."—Everybody's Magazine.

Temptation.

Now, why dat nigger grinnin'?

Harcome be roll him eye?

Whut dat Ah smell er cookin'?

Bress Gord—hit's chicken pie!

Dat nigger stole dat chicken—

He neber owned a hen,

Shoul' Ah pass on de yuther side,

Or holy counsel len?

Dat nigger's po' an' weary,

An' who gwine ax de blessin'—

In case Ah don't go in?—Puck.

Peculiarly Fitted.

"Now," said Flannigan, after the accident, "we'll have to send some man to break the news gradual to the poor man's wife."

"Send Hannigan," suggested Finnegan. "He's just the man to break the news gradual—he stammers so."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The report that all Monon trains were being hauled, one car at a time over the White river bridge, at Gosport, is not true, in that this system was used only one day, last Friday, while repairs were being made on the bridge. Trains are now running over the bridge and the line is open through from Chicago to Louisville. Considering the great damage done by the recent floods the Monon officials believe that their line is in excellent condition.

Elijah Grantham was in Marion Tuesday to look after his property interests there. Mr. Grantham owns a 7-room residence property in that town and he went to ascertain what damage had been done to the residence by the recent flood in that city. Mr. Grantham found his house 40 feet from its foundation. It was partly in the street and partly in an adjoining lot. The barn which had previously been on his lot was demolished. It will require the expenditure of more than a hundred dollars to get the house back on its foundation. Mr. Grantham states that many other houses suffered much more damage than his own.

The meeting of the Shakespeare club of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Brockway and Miss Margaret Kirkpatrick, was the last one of the year. ## BRAZIL PROGRESSIVES OPPOSED TO FUSION.

BRAZIL, Ind., April 8.—It begins to look as if there will be three party tickets in the coming city election, following the joint meeting last night of the Progressives and Republicans. About 40 Progressives were present and they objected to the proposed fusion with the Republicans. The opposition to fusion was made unanimous by the Republicans present. As a last resort a committee of ten Progressives was appointed to confer further with the Republicans at the earliest possible moment in an effort to place a citizen's ticket in the field. This plan at first appeared satisfactory to the Republicans but several minor hitchers appear likely to prevent concerted action, and it is believed the Republicans will refuse to consider even the citizen's ticket proposition.

GOVERNOR MAY RELEASE BOY. Considers Granting Parole Which Was Refused by Pardon Board.

Although the board of state pardons refused to recommend clemency, Governor Ralston may decide to grant a parole to Ruskin Tansel, 18 years old who is serving a one-year jail sentence at Winchester for killing Robert N. Krofft of Greencastle. The Governor spent some time Tuesday examining the papers in the case, but he has not reached a decision as to what action he will take. The boy stabbed Krofft to death while his father, Charles Tansel, and Krofft were engaged in a street fight. At the recent session of the pardon board a protest against the youth's release was made. A large number of citizens, however, including school friends of the prisoner, have signed petitions asking that a parole of pardon be granted. Tansel has served about half of his term.

be enforced, there can be no logical objection to this. In the fight to secure this legislation it was plainly shown that the better sentiment in those states which now allow spring shooting and the slaughter of song birds is decidedly against these practices, and it was made evident that all real sportsmen and all thinking people will welcome Federal action to put a stop to them where it has been impossible to secure state action.

Besides gratifying such people, the new measure will remedy a great injustice which is at present suffered by sportsmen in states which have adequate game laws through the fact that gunners in neighboring states have greater opportunities to shoot and, therefore, get more than their rightful share of birds.

The details connected with the enforcement of the Weeks-McLean law are yet to be perfected but the state authorities will probably take the most active part in making it effective, as in the case of the Lacey act. The latter is a Federal statute which prohibits traffic in game under the interstate commerce clause in states where it is unlawful to sell it.

May Be Easily Enforced. "When this act was under discussion its adversaries maintained that a large and expensive force would be necessary to make it effective, but experience has proved that a very small appropriation was needed, as the local wardens were glad to enforce it. The same will be true of the legislation just passed. The appropriation of $10,000 which it carried will prove sufficient for immediate needs, and considering the importance of the law and the money it will save the country."

RESERVES RULING IN COWAN DIVORCE SUIT.

The Terre Haute Tribune has the following concerning the divorce case of Charles Cowan, who is well-known in Greencastle:

"The divorce suit of Gertrude Cowan against Charles Cowan was up for hearing in the Circuit Court Tuesday afternoon, and after listening for two hours to sensational evidence, Judge Charles M. Fortune took the case under advisement. The couple live at 2474 Liberty avenue, and Cowan is an engineer on the Vandalia Railroad. According to the evidence, they have been married for 15 years, and during that, have quarreled continuously.

"While on the witness stand, Mrs. Cowan swore that, at the time she married her husband, she had not loved him, and that she had told him so at the time. She swore that her husband had attempted to kill her with a razor and that he had often beat and struck her. She said that he had told her that he loved another woman better than her, and that the woman had asked him to come and live with her, and that he would not have to work any longer.

"Cowan himself told the court, that his wife was subject to hysterical attacks and that while in this condition she imagined that he would kill her. He said that she loved another man better than she did him, and that she and the supposed lover were singing in a church choir in the northeast part of town together, and that they had caused much talk among the other church people. He also said that his wife permitted their 14-year-old daughter to keep company with lovers until as late as 11:30 o'clock at night.

"When the girl was called to the stand, she corroborated the statement of her mother and said, that her father had repeatedly struck her mother. At this point, the court announced that he would hand down his ruling in a few days."

Second Scarlet Fever Alarm.

A situation which for the time being created quite a little excitement but which now seems to have been exaggerated, was revealed Saturday when it was found that Miss Coral Tilman, who has been at her home at her home at North Manchester on account of a light attack of scarlet fever, had returned to the DePauw dormitory before all danger of transmitting the disease to others was passed.

It was thought best to remove Miss Tilman to the second floor of Art hall, where she was placed in quarantine and under the care of a trained nurse. It was feared for a time that all of the dormitory girls would have to be quarantined but such tion has not been found necessary.

Miss Tilman left school about three weeks ago with sickness that developed into scarlet fever. She was at her home at North Manchester for sixteen days when the quarantine was removed by the attending physician and she was permitted to return to school last Friday. Saturday morning it was discovered that all danger of transmitting the disease was not yet passed. She was immediately transferred to the Art hall where all measures necessary for the prevention of the disease were taken and the excitement at the dorm began to abate. Classes were held on the first floor of the Art school today and it will be only a short time before the quarantine on the second floor can be removed.
